Jonathan Wiley is the co-founder of DISCO's Class Action & Mass Tort group and a 20-year ediscovery expert. He spent the first decade of his career working with AmLaw firms and their corporate clients before a happenstance Qui Tam case changed his perspective of how discovery can impact change and the lives of individuals. Since then, Jonathan has dedicated his career to serving plaintiffs. He is passionate about helping plaintiff litigators find compelling evidence to hold corporate wrongdoers accountable for toxic greed and serial abuses.
