

WHITNEY STREET

Whitney Street is a partner at Hagens Berman Sobol Shapiro LLP where she focuses her practice on pharmaceutical antitrust litigation. She represents drug purchasers, most frequently on a class basis. Whitney has served as co-lead counsel or as a member of the plaintiffs' steering committee in a number of antitrust class actions, including In re Thalomid & Revlimid Antitrust Litig., 14-cv-6997 (D.N.J.) ($34 million settlement), In re Domestic Drywall Antitrust Litig., 13-md-02437 (E.D. Pa.) ($17 million settlement), and In re Liquid Aluminum Sulfate Antitrust Litig., 16-md-

02687 (D.N.J.) (more than $111 million in settlements).

Whitney is a frequent contributor on antitrust and e-Discovery issues, including: Co-Author, "What Lies Ahead in High Stakes Pay-For-Delay Antitrust Litigation," American Association of Justice Business Torts Newsletter, May 2015; Author, "Technology Assisted Review: The Disclosure of Training Sets and Related Transparency Issues," Georgetown Law Advanced eDiscovery Institute, November 2014; Speaker, "The New Normal: Producing and Obtaining Phone Record Data," Complex Litigation e-Discovery Forum, November 2020; Panelist, "Big Data & Storylines," Complex Litigation E-Discovery Forum, September 2016; and Moderator, "Introduction to the Use of Regression Analysis in Antitrust Class Action Litigation," American Association for Justice Webinar, August 2016.